Sainsbury’s job applications open

One of the biggest supermarkets in London is set to open later this year next to the new Spurs stadium, and applications for some of the 140 jobs being created at the store are now open.

Haringey Council has worked with Sainsbury’s, Spurs and Jobcentre Plus to put local people first and make sure you get the first opportunities to apply for the jobs.

Some of you will have met our staff at the jobs fair we organised at the Love Lane Estate earlier this month, and lots of training and help is on offer to help you fill in your application and prepare for interviews.

To come to one of our training workshops or find out more about the roles that are available, contact Haringey Council’s Employment and Skills team on 020 8489 2972 or email economic.regeneration@haringey.gov.uk.

Spurs are holding a fun day on the square outside their White Hart Lane stadium on August 28 where you can find out more about the new stadium and how you can get involved.

Green Flag for Lordship Rec

Congratulations to Lordship Rec for its first ever Green Flag award – recognising it as one of the best in the country.

The status – handed out by the Keep Britain Tidy campaign – is down to the hard work of those of you who helped transform the park in its recent £5million revamp.

Bruce Castle Park, Chestnuts Park, Downhills Park, and Markfields Park also kept their Green Flags, while community awards were given to Living Under One Sun’s project at Tottenham Hale and the Friends of Lordship Rec.

You can tell us what you think of the improvements at Lordship Rec by completing our online survey at www.haringey.gov.uk/lordship_consultation
About Tottenham News

This is the third edition of Tottenham News, the new monthly newsletter from Haringey Council to keep you updated about what’s happening in your community, including new opportunities and facilities. Tottenham News will tell you about important changes and ways you can get involved in the regeneration of Tottenham.

Looking to Tottenham’s future

The former site of Tottenham’s Post Office is to be transformed into new homes and businesses in a project which will inject new life into the High Road.

Haringey Council has approved the four-storey building – with 16 new homes and space for three shops on the ground floor – to replace the terrace destroyed in the 2011 riots.

The site was the only major building damaged two years still to be restored, and construction will start later this year to continue the improvements to the look of the High Road.

With a modern Aldi store open and thriving, a new Bruce Grove Post Office offering great services, and the restoration of the iconic Carpetright building nearly complete, Tottenham’s focus is firmly on the future.

After listening to your feedback over the past two years, we’ll be setting out our detailed and exciting regeneration proposals for Tottenham in the next few months.

We’ll be holding consultation events across the community to show you our proposals and hear what you like and don’t like, so look out for more details in September’s Tottenham News.

Tottenham Active!

launched

Hundreds of people made the most of Haringey’s heatwave and packed into Bruce Castle Park last month as Tottenham Active! kicked off.

Taster sessions in tag rugby, boxing and netball – as well as loads of other sports – were on offer while music entertained the crowds.

You’ll see a huge range of sports and exercise classes springing up across Tottenham’s parks and leisure centres during the next three years to give more people the chance to get fit and active.

So if you fancy trying your hand at a new sport, meeting new people or training to become a coach for others in the community, now is your chance to get involved.

Summer of Fun

There’s a bunch of sport, dance and cultural events happening across Tottenham this month, so check out your Tottenham Summer of Fun booklet to find out more or visit www.haringey.gov.uk/summer-of-fun
